TWENTY-FIRST YEAR

McCOOK, RED WILLOW COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY EVENING OCTOBER 24, 1902.

NUMBER 23

BRAKEMAN HUGH J. HINES KILLED.

Meets Death between Cars at Holdrege, Last Saturday Evening.

Brakeman Hugh J. Hines was fatally squeezed between the engine and head car of freight-train No. 148, Saturday evening last, 6:45 o'clock, in the yard at Holdrege. The train had been backed into a sidetrack and he had uncoupled the engine and given the engineer a signal to go ahead. Almost immediately, however, he discovered that the train would not clear the adjoining main-line, and he reached forward to set the air on the engine-tank, when the slack of the forty cars in the freight-train caught him and crushed out his life against the bumpers of the tank. He expired in about an hour and a half. The remains were brought to McCook on 3, the same night, for preparation for burial.

Thus is briefly told the story of the sad and tragic and untimely death of one of the Burlington's popular young freight-brakemen.

His young wife—a bride of less than a year—has the deepest sympathy of the entire community in the crushing blow of sorrow which has so suddenly come into her budding life. And the deeply distressed fathers, sisters and brothers are not forgotten by sympathetic friends.

[HUGH J. HINES was born in Science Hill, Pulaski county, Kentucky, March 16th, 1877. Died in Holdrege, Nebraska, October 18th, 1902. A bride of less than eleven months survives him, besides the father, two sisters and four brothers.

Deceased has lived in Nebraska a little less than five years, and of this time about three years have been spent in the Burlington's train-service out of McCook. He was united in marriage to Clementine Ploussard, last Thanksgiving day morning, in St. Patrick's church of this city.]

The funeral services here, Tuesday afternoon, were attended by the father of the deceased, Shelton Hines of Science Hill, Kentucky, a sister Miss Dora Hines of Kenesaw, Nebraska, four brothers, H. M. Hines of Somerset, Kentucky, T. J. Hines of Kenesaw, Nebraska, W. C. Hines of Norfolk, Nebraska, an employee of the Elkhorn, E. E. Hines, a Burlington brakeman out of Omaha, and an uncle, Anderson Hines of Hastings, Nebraska. The sister living in Texas failed to receive her telegram in time to be present.

Deceased was a member of the B. of R. T., in which he was insured for $1,200; the A. O. U. W., where his policy calls for $1,000; the Burlington Relief in which he carried $1,000, and in the Northwestern Life and Savings Association for $300; and was a social member of the K. of P. and I. O. O. F.

The funeral services were held in St. Patrick's Catholic church, Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, Rev. Sebastian Brennan conducting brief services with choir. The remains were interred in Calvary cemetery, where the Knights of Pythias ritualistic services were used. The remains were escorted from the Ploussard home to the church and thence to the cemetery by the B. of R. T., A. O. U. W. and K. of P., besides a numerous company of relatives and sympathetic friends. The church was entirely inadequate to accommodate all who applied for admission.
